SAFETY MANAGEMENT

Effective health and safety systems are a legal requirement and essential for controlling workplace hazards and to keep anyone in contact with your business safe. We are experts in helping you build a safer, more efficient business from the ground up without unnecessary paperwork. We listen carefully and work with your teams to give you a holistic view of your business and a plan to make things happen.

We can support your business in the following ways:

- Creation of entire safety management systems
- Bespoke projects as well as monitoring or improvement of current systems
- Troubleshooting and gap analysis on specific projects.
- CDM compliance health check
- Creation of CDM (Construction, Design and Management) documentation

- Stand-alone risk assessments, audits and risk reviews
- Health and Safety training and training requirements advice

Our Approach

When you engage our services the first critical step is to truly understand your expectations, the current state of your operations, how you work and the costs and risks involved as well as any specific legal compliance requirements.

This initial information gathering stage is key. We collate all the facts and possible risks in order to give you an honest and transparent view of our findings as well as our recommendations.

Once the initial fact finding stage has been completed there are several ways in which we can support you further:

- Audit and Benchmarking - We collate our findings, proposed plan and recommendations so you can implement the required changes independently.
- Change Management - We can support you through the required actions and direct the change management process on your behalf. We ensure all the company processes and paperwork are aligned to ensure your business is compliant.
- People Management - We ensure your workforce are engaged with the changes. We take your team on the journey and ensure your new processes are achievable and realistic.
